

OFF-THE-SHELF E-LEARNING

Improve your clients' performance with the largest and fastest growing library of on-demand e-learning available today. Over 6,000 courses. All topic areas. Unlimited access.

No matter what industry you're in, things are changing fast. New technologies and products are coming to market faster than ever before. Job roles are in demand that didn't even exist 3 or 4 years ago. Are you, as an organization, prepared to meet these new demands?

Alphanumeric's ready-to-deploy e-learning library includes over 9,800 mobile-friendly courses, ranging in length from 1 to 60 minutes – with no limits and no late fees. With Alphanumeric e-learning you can deliver relevant, reliable, and on-demand training to your users, easily and effectively. Your clients can learn and develop new skills and your organization can continue to thrive and grow. Available content includes:

Business Skills

Included in the library are a wide range of business skills videos including communication, time management, sales, customer service, management and supervision, leadership, and more. The formats vary from scenario-based action-oriented courses to inspirational and motivational videos.

Safety and Compliance

Save time and money by providing your client safety and compliance training online. Whether you work in a manufacturing environment, healthcare, or office, there are video training courses for everyone.

Desktop Computer Skills and IT Skills

Enable clients to find answers to job-critical application questions, enhance current skills, or access just-in-time performance support. Desktop computer skills courses are relevant, reliable resources to make employees' jobs easier and decrease the burden on internal support teams.
